Hi all,
Just got back after 2 hours of Elemental fun.
The Honda would not start due to a starter problem.
I used my AAA card to have it towed to Friendly Auto (323) 461-3415.

1. Unfortunately, this is an expensive starter in a difficult location for service.
Intake manifold and throttle assy. etc. will have to be removed.
Rough estimate: $465 w/ labor + tax on parts.

2. Additionally related is a transmission switch which will often not let the vehicle start in park.
With a good starter motor, it will start in neutral but since this is not advisable due to the possibility of the vehicle rolling (as well as being annoying),
I told Vrezh, the mechanic, to perform this repair.
Parts and labor = $175.

Repairs will be completed Monday by end of day.

Thanks!
Ron

John and all, if it does not start can Ori's or another service shop have it towed in and then get it repaired? Preferably Ori's because they would not need cash up front, and would just bill us. Thanks and sorry to hear you're having problems with the Element.

Good morning,

Wanted to inform you that the Element is down. It will not start at all and I notice the engine light on. I know it's not the battery cause everything else turns on. It's parked at pavilion parking lot. We inform the manager about it in case.
